

NewboRN Home Visiting

Meet the nurses who are doing home visits for NewboRN Home Visiting.

Sandee Muir, BSN, RN, RNC-NIC, CLC , CPS, graduated with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of Windsor, Canada. She has worked in Neonatal Intensive Care Units for over 40 years, including 30 plus years at UF Health Shands Hospital. She is a Certified Lactation Consultant as well as a Child Passenger Safety Technician.

Sandee recognizes that early support and education promotes positive long-term outcomes. She is passionate about helping new moms be successful in their parenting role.

Madelaine Eichel BSN, RN, graduated from the University of South Florida with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing. She has taught concepts and skills of pediatric nursing in a clinical setting at Galen College of Nursing. She has also worked as a Mother Baby Nurse, a Pediatric ICU Nurse at UF Health Shands Hospital and a Pediatric Nurse at Duke University Hospital.

Mady is passionate about helping families learn to care for their newborn babies. She enjoys providing education on breastfeeding, home safety, infant care and more. She is excited to help families succeed on their new journey of parenting.

Cara Goss, BSN, RN, CLC, CPS, graduated cum laude with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from the University of Florida. She has 18 years of experience working in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at UF Health Shands Hospital. She is a Certified Lactation Consultant as well as a Child Passenger Safety Technician.

Cara is passionate about empowering families through education, training and allocation of resources so that they feel confident in providing quality care for their newborns. She believes in supporting families to be healthy so they can have long term success and achieve their goals.

Diana Stetter, BS, ASN, RN, RNC-MNN, has a Bachelor of Science in Communications from Florida State University and an Associate of Science in Nursing from Santa Fe College. Diana worked on the Mother Baby Unit at UF Health

Shands Hospital for nine years where she gained experience in all aspects of care for the postpartum mother and their newborns. In addition, Diana has an advanced certificate in Maternal Newborn Nursing.

Diana is passionate about supporting and educating new parents with the latest information while providing quality home visits with compassion, helping families build a strong foundation for positive family futures.

Learn more about the NewboRN Home Visiting program at www.NewbornHomeVisiting.org